

Application No.: 10/820,950
Atty. Dkt.: 2K522/03054

In the Abstract

In order to spread the light being emitted from an LED, an LED light spreader comprises ~~comprises~~ has a light conductive end, an optical path conversion side, and a light transmitting side. The present invention enables a single LED to simulate the effect of having several discrete LEDs on a circuit board or may be configured to give the effect of having a single elongated light source.